

Bare Knuckle Boxing

2 players "Go the distance" 9 minutes

On the count of three each player throws 0 to 5 fingers. Points are scored based on the fingers thrown.

- If both player's fingers add up to exactly the last digit of a player's score, that player is knocked out and their opponent wins.
- If both players throw an even or odd number, they each score points equal to what they threw.
- Otherwise the player with the lower throw scores points equal to their throw.

At the end of a round, if one player has 10 more points than their opponent it is a technical knock out, and the player with more points wins. At the end of 9 rounds if no one has scored a knockout or technical knock out, it goes to a decision and the player with more points wins.
